Chapter 1: Critical Section and Synchronization

1.1 Mutex Locks and Race Conditions

A race condition occurs when multiple threads manipulate shared data concurrently.

A Mutex Lock is a locking mechanism used to synchronize access to a critical section.

Before understanding Semaphores, one must understand Mutex Locks and Race Conditions.